"YOUNG CORBETT" UP AND OUT EARLY

WAS WALKING OFF ENERGY AT SUNRISE.

Will Fight Dave Sullivan or Benny Yanger First—Tells Story of His Life.

The man who was cleaning up the bar in the Metropole Hotel looked up in surprise this morning as a brisk, bright-faced young fellow entered and looked around.

"Hello," said the new arrival, "where is everybody?" "Nobody shows up around here until noon," responded the man who was cleaning the bar.

"See, they must be a lazy lot!" remarked the youngster. "Which way is Central Park?"

Off for Walk in Park. He was told, and up Broadway he started at a swinging gait. The man who was cleaning the bar called to the porter who was polishing the windows.

"Wonder who the young fella is?" "He's a large, and a little bit of a fighter," responded the porter, "but that's Young Corbett, that fella that was out of Terry McGovern."

It was a true assertion. Young Corbett tumbled out of bed shortly after some of the Metropole patrons turned in, although he had not retired until midnight.

The Story of His Life. "Young Corbett" consented to tell the story of his life to an Evening World reporter over a large and satisfying breakfast.

"He is a tremendous eater," remarked the reporter, "and I am sure that's Young Corbett, that fella that was out of Terry McGovern."

CARBUNCLE WINS BENNINGS STAKE.

Gallops Home in Front of Surmise for Second Maximum—Conover Takes the Third Race.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BENNINGS RACE TRACK, Nov. 29. The last day of the Washington Jockey club meeting found a very large crowd at the course. It was a "big" day and the finest day from the standpoint of weather that has been prevalent since the opening day.

The track was fast and betting heavy. Several thousand persons were present.

For three races and up and down the track, the crowd was very large.

Stallions, who took the first race, were very fast. The crowd was very large.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON THE BONE OF CONTENTION.

No Truth in Story that Prince of Wales Will Challenge for America's Cup.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Even if those alleged to have been concerned in getting the Prince of Wales to challenge for the America's Cup did not categorically deny the truth of the report, it would be palpably absurd.

Lord Dunsany and Sir Thomas Lipton, the two yachtmen mentioned as co-operating to this end, are notoriously opposed to each other, while other members of the Royal Yacht Squadron, some reason or another, and in spite of the King's efforts to the contrary, vigorously opposed Sir Thomas Lipton. His chances of election to the Royal Yacht Squadron are still as remote as ever.

Should the King, exercising his royal prerogative, force the matter to an issue, many members of the squadron would be withdrawing and forming another organization. Already there is talk of building another club-house, but in view of the strenuous opposition of such distinguished subjects as the members of the Squadron it is not likely the King will push matters further.

CHAMPION TRAVIS IN FINAL GOLF ROUND.

DEFEATED J. P. KNAPP WITH EASE IN SEMI-FINAL.

(Special to The Evening World.)

LAKESIDE, N. J., Nov. 29.—The golfers competing in the semi-final rounds for the three cups in the open tournament of the golf club of Lakewood this morning had fine weather for their sport. There was just sufficient winter chill in the air to spur them on to their best efforts.

For the leading trophy amateur champion Walter J. Travis had J. P. Knapp as an opponent, while Charles L. Tappan had W. M. McCall, of the Philadelphia set, to contend with. For the second cup ex-Champion Findlay S. Douglas, who came so near being beaten yesterday in a twenty-hole match, was pitted against W. H. Barnwell, of the Philadelphia set, who had made such a favorable impression in this tournament.

The summary of the match play was: Golf Club, Lakeside, semi-final, Walter J. Travis, 18 holes, 71; J. P. Knapp, 18 holes, 72. In the twenty-hole match, Travis won by 2 up and 4 to 1. In the twenty-hole match, Travis won by 2 up and 4 to 1.

Lakeside, N. J., Nov. 29.—The golfers competing in the semi-final rounds for the three cups in the open tournament of the golf club of Lakewood this morning had fine weather for their sport. There was just sufficient winter chill in the air to spur them on to their best efforts.

For the leading trophy amateur champion Walter J. Travis had J. P. Knapp as an opponent, while Charles L. Tappan had W. M. McCall, of the Philadelphia set, to contend with. For the second cup ex-Champion Findlay S. Douglas, who came so near being beaten yesterday in a twenty-hole match, was pitted against W. H. Barnwell, of the Philadelphia set, who had made such a favorable impression in this tournament.

The summary of the match play was: Golf Club, Lakeside, semi-final, Walter J. Travis, 18 holes, 71; J. P. Knapp, 18 holes, 72. In the twenty-hole match, Travis won by 2 up and 4 to 1. In the twenty-hole match, Travis won by 2 up and 4 to 1.
